RE: JAMES EARL RAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) —

James Earl Ray, the man charged with

then he came out of the jail gate.

Looking all right, he looked better, he saunders.

James, who said on arrival in London that he might that he might play innocent through lack of information, asked by a reporter if he should be called a "killer,"

"No," he replied and said that he was not a killer and only one of a number which might be called

James, former mayor of Birmingham, still in office or calling Ray by the name under which he was known, he said he

George Sneyd, although the writer, said he testimony that he is Ray.

"This man to be in still in London," James said.

In the eyes of the British government, James was only private party and not a legal adviser in an official capacity.

Home Secretary James Callaghan, referring to James, said he "did not qualify for the special conditions applicable to legal advisers under the statutory prison rules."

James had been in London in late June, but did not see

Ray then, although he reportedly asked permission of British authorities, Callaghan said Ray had asked to receive a visitor

June 24 and was given the go-ahead June 25 on the condition that he be an "ordinary visitor."

Before entering the prison, James repeatedly stressed Ray's identity as Sneyd. He said: "He is George Sneyd as far as I am concerned. This man has identified himself as such. I am saying that the U.S. government and the authorities of Tennessee have the burden to prove otherwise."

"It will, Sir."

Ray is a fugitive criminal accused of murder and is convicted of robbery. He was starting the eighth year of a 20-year sentence for armed robbery when he escaped from the Missouri State Penitentiary at Jefferson City in April 1967.

British charges on which Ray was arrested at London Airport June 8 are due to come up in court next Tuesday. These are possession of an unlicensed gun and a forged Canadian passport made out in the name of Ramon George Sneyd. In view of the proceedings in the American case, these may be dropped.

Wilton said he was satisfied that lawyers representing the United States had made out a case against Ray as the civil rights leader's assassin and against him as a fugitive from the Missouri prison.

He also said the evidence, mostly from fingerprints, had convicted him "that James Earl Ray is the same person now before me."

Ray's lawyers had never offered any defense and had been silent.

Defense is the right of every man. Ray has been convicted of a crime. He is not a criminal. He is a man who has been wronged.

The hearing lacked the drama of the first round last Thursday, when Calcutt disclosed a mass of government evidence against Ray.

Wilton and Calcutt spent the morning arguing the legal technicalities of official evidence.

Ray, dressed in the courtroom as a man and sitting in a summer dress, watched the proceedings intently. His head swiveled toward the bench whenever the magistrate intervened with a question.

When the morning session ended, Wilton brusquely announced he would deliver his verdict after lunch at 2 P.M. and vanished through the door to his chambers.

Wilton was so surprised that he had to call the magistrate back for Ray to make a short statement.

Ray rose and again complained about a statement by Detective Chief Supt. Thomas Butler of Scotland Yard that had him saying "I feel so trapped" after his arrest. He said he never made it and wanted this noted because of the wide publicity given the case in the United States, especially in the so-called liberal press.

Ray also complained that he had not been allowed to see Arthur J. James, a Birmingham, Ala., lawyer who came here to prepare for Ray's trial defense in the United States.

Wilton said the statement made no difference to his decision. Then he turned to Wilton and complimented him on his performance as Ray's attorney in the case.

LONDON--A COURT TODAY ORDERED JAMES EARL RAY EXTRADITED TO THE U.S. TO STAND TRIAL FOR THE ASSASSINATION OF MARTIN LUTHER KING. RAY, 40, IDENTIFIED AS AN ESCAPED CONVICT FROM A MISSOURI JAIL. WAS ACCUSED OF SHOOTING THE CIVIL RIGHTS LEADER IN MEMPHIS ON APRIL 4. HE WAS ARRESTED AT LONDON AIRPORT JUNE 1. RAY'S DEFENSE ATTORNEY, ROGER FRISBY, ARGUED IN BOB STREET MAGISTRATE COURT THAT THE SLAYING WAS A POLITICAL CRIME. BUT FRANK MILTON, CHIEF METROPOLITAN MAGISTRATE FOR LONDON, AGREED WITH THE U.S. POSITION IT WAS OUTRIGHT MURDER.

IN A SURPRISE STATEMENT TO THE COURT THAT HE FEARED--AND PERHAPS EXPECTED--THE EXTRADITION TO BE GRANTED. THERE WAS STILL MUCH LEGAL RED TAPE TO GO THROUGH BEFORE RAY RETURNS TO THE U.S. HIS DEFENSE ATTORNEY INDICATED HE WOULD APPEAL THE A MANEUVER THAT COULD TAKE WEEKS.

MILTON IN HIS RULING SAID NO EVIDENCE HAD BEEN PRESENTED AT THE TWO-PART HEARING TO SUBSTANTIATE DEFENSE CLAIMS THE SLAYING WAS A POLITICAL CRIME.

HE ALSO RULED THAT MISSOURI LAW COVERING ROBBERY WITH VIOLENCE WAS RELEVANT IN THE EXTRADITION CASE. MISSOURI WANTS RAY FOR TRIAL ON CHARGES HE ESCAPED FROM PRISON WHILE SERVING A TERM FOR ARMED ROBBERY.

MILTON RULED RAY EXTRADITABLE ON BOTH COUNTS. AT LAST WEEK'S HEARING, RAY DENIED KILLING KING.

"ALL I KNOW IN THIS AFFAIR IS THAT THE MAN SAYS HE DID NOT DO IT," MILTON SAID TODAY.

"IF THE ONLY EVIDENCE IS THAT A PUBLIC FIGURE, A POLITICAL FIGURE, A CONTROVERSIAL FIGURE HAS BEEN KILLED THEN THIS IS NOT ENOUGH."

"THEREFORE BOTH SUBMISSIONS FAILED TO BE ACCEPTED AND THE DEFENDANT WILL BE COMMITTED TO A PRISON TO AWAIT EXTRADITION ON BOTH SIDES."

RAY APPEAL FOR LASSERUS CORPUS.

THIS, UNDER BRITISH LAW, IS THE FORM THAT RAY'S APPEAL WILL TAKE TO THE DIVISION COURT OF THE QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION OF THE HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

THE DEFENSE CALLED IT A POLITICAL CRIME BUT THE MAGISTRATE IN RULING AGAINST THIS SAID:

"THIS WAS THE ASSASSINATION OF A MAN WHO WAS NOT IN CONTROL OF THE GOVERNMENT OF HIS COUNTRY. NOT AS FAR AS HAS BEEN SHOWN BY THE EVIDENCE. IT WAS NOT PART OF A CAMPAIGN TO GET RID OF THE GOVERNMENT-- BUT THE ACT OF A SOLITARY PERSON."

RAY SHOWED VIRTUALLY NO EMOTION WHILE BUT THE ACT OF A SOLITARY PERSON."

RAY SHOWED VIRTUALLY NO EMOTION WHEN MILTON ANNOUNCED HIS DECISION.

HE WAS STARING DOWN AT THE TABLE AND LOOKED UP SLOWLY WITHOUT BLINKING. THEN WITH A SLIGHT SHRUG OF HIS SHOULDER, HE ROSE TO RECEIVE FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS FROM MILTON. HE REMAINED EXPRESSIONLESS.

THIS WAS IN CONTRAST TO HIS NERVOUSNESS A FEW MINUTES EARLIER WHEN HE HAD MADE HIS STATEMENT THAT HE HAD BEEN DENIED THE RIGHT TO SEE HIS AMERICAN LAWYER.

FRISBY SAID LATER HE "PROBABLY" WOULD APPEAL TODAY'S RULING.

At one point, when told that if this were so, he should be sent to the United States, he refused to go. He said he would not be extradited to U.S. authorities until after the expiration of 10 days. Ray was then right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus or other like process. The extradition order against the 40-year-old prisoner was on two grounds—being a "negative criminal record of murder" and "a fugitive convicted of robbery."

This traced to his escape in April 1967 from the Missouri State Penitentiary at Jefferson City, where he was serving his eighth year of a 30-year sentence for armed robbery. The British charges of which he was arrested at London Airport June 10, 1968, followed a report that he had "unintentionally" shot a man in a car in London. In view of the developments, they may be dropped.

Ray voiced a complaint about British officials in the final stage of the hearing. Shortly after the court had ordered an adjournment for lunch, Ray returned to make an unexpected statement.

Fristy, in his final statement, submitted that whoever did the killing was acting consciously or otherwise as representative of a large body of persons who disagreed with the objects and aims of King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.
The defense claimed there was something akin to a state of civil war or insurrection in the American South. Fristy contended that it indeed there was only one finger on the trigger of the gun that killed King. "The nature of the thing is that you can only get one finger on the trigger at the time..."
Fristy said the passing of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was in a sense the culmination of the efforts of King and others of the conference and other bodies. It was political work, he said, and an effort to compel the government to change its policy.
The attorney went on:
"It became abundantly plain that whoever did the killing did not do it on personal grounds but on grounds which called for disapproval of the type of activity Dr. King was conducting... An office was opened in Washington by the conference and these activities, according to Fristy, were clearly political."

LONDON (AP) — Ray, 34, was conducting.

Shortly after the court adjourned for lunch, Ray returned to make an unexpected statement.

Sandwiched between two policemen, he told the magistrate: "I don't want to repeat myself. I would like to take this opportunity to object to Mr. Butler's testimony."

Detective Chief Supt. Thomas Butler of Scotland Yard had testified last week that, when accused, Ray collapsed on a seat in his cell saying: "Oh God, I feel so trapped."

Ray quickly denied he ever said it and he made a further denial today "especially in view of the fact that this case will probably be given wide publicity in the United States, especially in the so-called liberal press."

"I would urge this court to take in the totality of the circumstances," Ray said. "One, that I did not sign any kind of statement whatsoever, and also the fact that I said I did not want to have conversation with anybody connected with the United States Justice Department."

"One other thing I object to, I'm sure it is not connected with the case. I believe there is a connection between this hearing and the trial in the States. Shortly after I was arrested by the British authorities, I engaged an attorney in the United States—Mr. Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, Ala."

"He subsequently made a trip to consult with me. This was opposed by the Home Secretary James Callaghan, and I made an application to the home secretary and I received no answer."

"I then wrote to Mr. Edward Heath, Conservative opposition leader, and I was informed by the governor of Wandsworth Prison that this was not permissible and that he would forward the letter to Mr. Callaghan. Evidently the Home Secretary would decide whether Mr. Heath would be permitted to read the letter."

"I think that, in view of the seriousness of this case, I should have had a little more freedom to write and visit people in the circumstances. That is all I have to say and I would like to thank the court."

Ray was then taken back to the cells adjoining the court.

LONDON--JAMES EARL RAY CHARGED TODAY HE HAD BEEN DENIED THE RIGHT TO SEEM AN AMERICAN LAWYER AND ACCESS TO REPRESENT HIM IN ANY TRIAL FOR THE MURDER OF MARTIN LUTHER KING.

THE MISSOURI JUDGE, WHO INTERRUPTED COURT PROCEEDINGS TO TELL THE MAGISTRATE HE WANTED TO MAKE A PERSONAL STATEMENT AT THIS SECOND HEARING TO DETERMINE WHETHER HE CAN BE EXTRADITED TO THE U.S.

HIS BRITISH DEFENSE ATTORNEY, ROBERT FRISBY, CHARGED THAT THE SLAYING OF KING WAS A CRIME WHICH INVOLVED THE U.S.-BRITISH EXPEDITION

TO KILL A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE, LARRY MOSELEY, WHO WAS KILLED

IN THE MURDER OF MARTIN LUTHER KING. LARRY MOSELEY WAS A MEMBER

OF THE BRITISH ARMY AND HIS SON, ANTHONY JR., ALSO A LAWYER, AND THEN WITH HIM WENT TO LONDON COMPLAINING HE HAD BEEN REFUSED PERMISSION TO

SEE HIS FATHER. HE SAID HE HAD BEEN REFUSED THE RIGHT TO SEE HIS FATHER AND THAT HE HAD BEEN REFUSED PERMISSION TO SEE HIS FATHER.

RAY REQUESTED AN ADVISOR ON HIS WHEELS AND THEN SPOKE IN A STACCATO VOICE. IT WAS DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND HIM.

RAY MADE REQUEST TO MAKE A STATEMENT TO THE COURT ONLY MINUTES AFTER THE HEARING WAS RECESSED UNTIL 2 P.M. (9 A.M. EDT).

AFTER MAKING THE STATEMENT THE COURT ASKED IF HE WANTED IT READ BEFORE THE FULL COURT WHEN THE AFTERNOON SESSION CONVENED.

"YES, SIR, BEING AS HOW THE OTHER PART (OF THE TESTIMONY) IS NOT TOO FAVORABLE TO ME," HE REPLIED.

RAY AGAIN OBJECTED TO THE TESTIMONY OF SCOTLAND YARD DETECTIVE SUPERINTENDENT THOMAS BUTLER CONCERNING HIS BEHAVIOR WHEN ARRESTED AT LONDON AIRPORT JUNE 8. HE SAID HE WAS "CONCERNED" THAT THIS PROBABLY WOULD BE GIVEN WIDE PUBLICITY IN THE U.S., "ESPECIALLY IN THE SO-CALLED LIBERAL PRESS."

RAY URGED THE COURT TO CONSIDER THAT HE SIGNED NOTHING WHEN ARRESTED IN BRITAIN AND HAD NO CONTACT WITH ANYONE FROM THE U.S. EMBASSY, ESPECIALLY THE U.S. ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL, FRED VINSON WHO VISITED LONDON AFTER RAY'S ARREST.

HE SAID HE BELIEVED THAT TESTIMONY CONNECTED WITH THE EXTRADITION HEARING WOULD BE USED IN "ANY" PROCEEDINGS IN THE U.S.

HE THEN COMPLAINED THAT HIS ALABAMA ATTORNEY WAS DENIED ACCESS TO HIM BY BRITISH HOME SECRETARY JAMES CALLAGHAN.

There was no reaction from most of the crowded courtroom.

The magistrate, sitting at his bench stacked with law books, addressed Ray directly and told him: "You will be committed to prison to await extradition to the United States."

He then granted him legal aid for his appeal.

As Milton delivered his decision, he glanced at notes and occasionally referred to the end of the law volumes.

He dealt at some length with the contention of defense attorney Roger Ariaby that Ray could not be extradited because the slaying of the civil rights leaders shot in Memphis, Tenn., April 4, was a political offense.

The judge agreed it was common knowledge that King was a controversial figure in the United States, but he refused to accept the defense contention that this alone could make the crime of his assassination a political one.

"To hold so would be to extend the meaning of this case too far," the magistrate said.

The case turned on whether the crime was political or not. Under treaty between Britain and the United States, persons may not be extradited for political reasons.

The U.S. government denied Ray's contention that the killing of King was a political crime.

"There is not a shred of evidence to show that the murder took place to further the aims of a larger enterprise," David Calcutt, a British lawyer representing the U.S. government, told the magistrate.

He declared: "There was no conspiracy. No other man or other body was involved."

"There may have been underlings that this might be for, but the evidence before this court points to a lone assassination for private purpose."

The argument that there was no conspiracy seemed intended to apply only to the first-degree murder warrant issued by the State of Tennessee for the shooting in Memphis April 4.

When Ray was put on the FBI's "most wanted" list April 20, he was wanted also on a federal charge of conspiracy to deny King his civil rights.

The prisoner has denied he killed King, or even knew him.

Ariaby told the court that whoever did the shooting did not do it on personal grounds but because he disapproved of the type of activity King was conducting.

In summary, Magistrate Milton said he found no difficulty in establishing that there was a prima facie case against Ray in Nixon's murder.

"On this, on the verbal and affidavit evidence before me, there can be no doubt," he said.

Milton said no evidence had been produced in Ray's case to show it was not an individual act.

"All I know is that this accused man said he didn't do it," he said.

The magistrate also passed over the question of Ray's identification without difficulty. Ray was arrested in Britain on forged passport and illegal gun-carrying charges under the alias of Ramon George Sneyd.

But the magistrate said: "I find evidence that James Earl Ray is the same person now before me."

Although Ray was granted legal aid to pursue an appeal if he wished, there was no public announcement that he would.

However, lawyers close to the case said that an appeal would be carried to the High Court with arguments on the same political grounds as Milton rejected in Magistrate's Court.

Should the High Court reject the appeal, Ray could go to the House of Lords, which is Britain's highest court, but he could make an appeal to the Lords only on a point of law.

Shortly after 7th April 1968-1971.

LONDON (AP) — A British judge approved Tuesday the U.S. government's request for extradition of James Earl Ray to stand trial for the killing of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Ray's lawyers announced they will appeal the decision to Britain's High Court.

40-year-old fugitive from the Missouri State Penitentiary, who was occasionally on parole; he had lost his right eye.

They can also be told the opposite.

Then guards escorted him back to his maximum security cell at Wandsworth Prison to await the appeal, which must be filed within 15 days.

In Washington Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said he hoped Ray could be returned to the United States without undue delay so the prisoner could have his "right to a speedy trial."

Wilton said "there can be no doubt" that there is a prima-facie case against Ray in the murder of the American civil rights leader, killed by a rifle bullet at the Lorraine Motel, Memphis, Tenn., April 4.

The prime evidence submitted in the dinky Bow Street Magistrate's Court was testimony of an FBI fingerprint expert, George Jacob Bonebrake, at a hearing last week that Ray's prints were found on a rifle, telescopic sight and binoculars that Memphis authorities consider were used by the killer.

Conviction on a murder charge in a Tennessee court could mean a sentence to death by electrocution.

Feeling through half-spectacles over Lawton's pilled-on his judicial bench, Wilton ruled on several major points.

Security arrangements are being rushed at the Shelby County jail in downtown Memphis. Ray will be lodged in an interior cell in the jail once he is returned.

His first public appearance in Memphis would come when he is brought into one of the county's criminal courtrooms for arraignment, a procedure that normally takes only a few minutes.

Should the defense or the state request a psychiatric examination, that would add more time to the long delay expected before the trial is held. Normal procedure is to send a prisoner to Central is speculation that because of needed security Ray would get the examination in the jail.

The defense could request a delay of several weeks to interview witnesses and prepare them.

Wednesday deputies took up guard positions in an alley behind the jail, at the jail's entrance in the criminal courts building and in the hallway leading to the sheriff's office. No one was admitted into these areas without special reason.

Attorneys entering the jail to meet with their clients were searched.

Heavy steel plating was placed on four windows on the jail's third floor on the north side of the building, and heavy screens were being placed on other jail windows.

The location of Ray's cell within the jail has not been disclosed, and requests to photograph it were turned down. The cell is to be equipped with closed-circuit television.

It is understood that several streets in the immediate vicinity of the jail-courts building will be blocked off during the trial. It became known last week that everyone attending the trial would be recorded on sound and television tape.

Ray is scheduled to appear in court today for a brief hearing on his appeal against extradition to the United States to face trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The brief hearing at the Bow Street Magistrate's Court is a formality to dispose of the two minor charges on which Ray had been held since his arrest at London Airport June 8: using a forged Canadian passport and carrying a loaded pistol without a permit.

The British charges could be dropped or shelved indefinitely.

After the hearing today, Home Secretary James Callaghan is expected to sign the order for Ray's extradition issued by Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Frank Wilton on July 2. Ray decided on Tuesday not to appeal extradition, and the 15-day period for filing of an appeal expired Wednesday.

The time of Ray's departure is a closely guarded secret. Unofficial reports said a U.S. Air Force transport was standing by at Northolt, a U.S. air base west of London, to take Ray and an escort of U.S. marshals to Memphis, Tenn., where the Negro civil rights leader was shot April 4.

Ray's American attorney, Arthur J. Hanes, arrived in London Wednesday and complained that the U.S. Justice Department had refused to let him accompany Ray back to the United States. Hanes, a former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., said his client was afraid to be alone with Justice Department men.

"I don't know the basis of the fear," said the lawyer, "but he says it and he wants me to be present."

"I applied some weeks ago to go back on the plane with him and that he should not be questioned or interrogated by FBI men without my being present."

"This was refused. It is a violation of my client's constitutional rights."

"I shall apply again for permission to fly back with him."

Even if I am not allowed on the plane, I want to be allowed to spend a few hours with my client before he will be immediately put up in court in Memphis."

Hanes spent 45 minutes with Ray inside London's Wandsworth jail Wednesday. But the lawyer said that in this conversation, as in others he had during a previous visit to London, it was impossible to get to the heart of things because British prison officers always were within hearing.

Hanes said Ray waived appeal on the advice of Hanes "because he is innocent and wants to get back to the States as quickly as possible to prove it."

Hanes charged that Ray is the target of an "unprecedented, vicious and libelous press and television campaign to portray him as a convicted murderer, a monster, a degenerate and a drug addict."

Asserting that no one is guilty until proved guilty, the lawyer said, "once my client is in America, there are our courts daily with us and others; we will find the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

Associated Press Writer
LONDON, AP — U.S. officials stood ready Thursday night to receive James Earl Ray from British custody and fly him to the United States to face trial on charges of assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

A U.S. plane was said to be standing by at Northolt, the closest Royal Air Force base to London capable of handling jets that can cross the Atlantic. The plane was expected to take off at night so as to land at night, probably at Memphis, Tenn., where King was shot to death April 4.

American officials kept the tightest security screen in front of Ray's transfer. They refused a request by his lawyer, Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, Ala., to accompany Ray home or even to speak to him once he is in U.S. custody in Britain. Hanes said U.S. officials refused to give him an explanation of their refusal. But he made it clear that Ray feared U.S. officials would try to interrogate him during the seven- or eight-day flight about circumstances surrounding King's assassination, possibly raising questions about any conspiracy.

"I just told him to keep his mouth shut," Hanes said. British courts Thursday cleared away the last of the formalities that have prevented Ray's transfer to the United States since his arrest in London June 8.

Following Ray's decision earlier this week to abandon his fight against extradition, a lawyer representing the director of public prosecutions went into Bow Street Magistrates Court. He said no evidence would be offered to support British charges against Ray of entering the country on a forged passport and carrying an unlicensed gun. That was the last step before Home Secretary James Callaghan could sign the extradition papers. The Home Office announced Callaghan signed the order Thursday night.

This order authorized the transfer of Ray to the custody of U.S. marshals.

Ray was not in court for the hearing. Hanes was conferring with him at Wandsworth Prison.

"I gave him some new shirts and a tie so he would look sharp," Hanes said.

Hanes was being kept completely in the dark about the flight. "I don't know if they are taking him back by jells (jumbo) or ship or yellow submarine," the lawyer told newsmen.

He said he might make a legal issue of it at the trial, basing his argument on new U.S. Supreme Court rulings about holding a suspect in custody without permitting him to consult a lawyer.

"I don't see any justification logically for them to prevent me from seeing him," he said. "But I have a right to see him in private when he is turned over to U.S. authorities. He has fears of intensive interrogation and grilling by Justice Department agents. They will have him captive for seven or eight hours and they can engage him in conversation."

Hanes said he had formally requested the U.S. Justice Department for permission to accompany Ray home when he called Washington from his office in Birmingham Tuesday morning to tell the department about Ray's extradition lawyer.

He told newsmen a message was passed on to him through the U.S. Embassy here from Fred Vinson Jr., U.S. assistant attorney general, saying: "I hope you understand why you cannot accompany this man to the United States and why you cannot see him in private."

Hanes said he replied: "My answer is no, I do not understand."

Hanes said he would return to the United States as soon as he had word that Ray was on the way and begin preparations for the trial, which he expects to open in October or November.

He expected July 19.

LONDON--JAMES EARL RAY'S ALABAMA LAWYER SAID TODAY RAY IS INNOCENT OF THE MURDER OF MARTIN LUTHER KING AND WANTS TO RETURN TO THE U.S. TO CLEAR HIMSELF ON THE CHARGES.

ATTORNEY ARTHUR J. HANES SR. SAID RAY AGREED TO WAIVE AN EXTRADITION APPEAL WHEN THEY MET AT LONDON'S WADSWORTH PRISON THIS AFTERNOON.

HANES SAID RAY, WHOM HE REFERRED TO AS "R.G. SNEYD," HAD ASKED THE U.S. JUSTICE DEPARTMENT AND BRITISH AUTHORITIES TO PERMIT HANES TO ACCOMPANY HIM WHEN HE IS HANDED OVER TO U.S. AUTHORITIES TO BE SENT TO MEMPHIS, TENN., FOR TRIAL.

HANES SAID THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT HAS DENIED THIS REQUEST SO FAR.

HANES SAID SNEYD DID NOT HAVE TO SIGN ANY WAIVERS BUT SIMPLY ACTED THROUGH THE ALABAMA ATTORNEY, ADVISING HIM TO PROCEED WITH THE EXTRADITION PROCESS.

HANES SAID RAY WANTED TO RETURN TO THE U.S. IMMEDIATELY "SO MY CLIENT AND I CAN BEGIN WITHOUT FURTHER DELAY TO COMBAT AND COUNTERACT THE UNPRECEDENTED, VICIOUS AND LIBELLOUS PRESS AND TELEVISION CAMPAIGN TO PORTRAY HIM AS A CONVICTED MURDERER, A MONSTER, A DEGENERATE AND A DOPE ADDICT."

"THIS MAN WANTS TO GET BACK TO THE UNITED STATES AND CLEAR HIS NAME," HANES SAID. "IT'S AS SIMPLE AS THAT."

HANES SAID THE VISIT OF U.S. ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL FRED M. VINSON JR. TO LONDON, WHERE HE WAS ALLOWED TO SEE RAY BUT NOT TO TALK WITH HIM, "WAS HIGH-HANDED AND WRONG AND I THINK HIGHLY PREJUDICIAL."

IN A PREPARED STATEMENT, HANES CHARGED THAT VINSON'S ACTION IN SEEING RAY VIOLATED RAY'S CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS AND U.S. SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

LONDON (AP) - American authorities pursued top secret plans today for a quick return to the United States of James Earl Ray to face trial for the assassination in Memphis, Tenn., of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Ray may be on his way tonight or early tomorrow.

Ray's suspect the first word that Ray has left London will be news of his actual arrival in Memphis, one source said.
Ray cleared the way for his return by signing a declaration Tuesday that he did not want to appeal the order for his extradition issued July 3 by London's chief magistrate, Frank Milton.

The 40-year-old prisoner, a fugitive from the Missouri State Penitentiary who denies he killed King, spent his remaining hours in London's Wandsworth prison under heavy guard.

Ray's American lawyer, Arthur J. Hanes of Birmingham, Ala., flew into London to have a talk with him at the prison. Hanes was believed hoping to accompany his client back to the United States, but U.S. officials indicated such a request would be turned down.

Informed sources speculated that Ray would be flown back with a heavy guard aboard a U.S. military plane or a chartered civilian jet. U.S. military planes can use British civilian fields such as Heathrow and Gatwick airports near London.

The time of Ray's departure for America is a closely guarded secret. Unofficial reports said a U.S. Air Force transport was standing by at Northolt, a U.S. air base west of London, to take the prisoner and an escort of U.S. marshals to Memphis, Tenn., where the Negro civil rights leader was shot April 4.

Special Agent in Charge

100-1111111 - James Earl Ray, a former lawyer, protested vigorously Wednesday against plans to fly the accused assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to Memphis, Tenn., without his own legal counsel aboard the plane.

Addressing newsmen after visiting Ray in Wandsworth Prison for 45 minutes, Arthur J. Hanes, former mayor of Birmingham, said Ray had asked him to fly back with him but that U.S. authorities had turned down the request.

"He came being in company of the Justice Department alone," Hanes said. "I don't know the basis of the fear but he says it and he wants me to be present."

Ray decided Wednesday not to appeal against extradition any longer, and Hanes arrived in London Wednesday morning.

U.S. officials have steadfastly refused on security grounds to disclose anything about how they will take Ray to the United States.

But he is expected to go aboard a U.S. military plane or a chartered airliner upon leaving London.

Neither Hanes nor Ray's British lawyer has any idea when the plane will leave.

U.S. Embassy officials declined comment on Hanes' statements. They said the decision to bar Hanes from the plane had been made in Washington and any comment would have to come from there.

Hanes explained he had advised Ray to waive extradition because he wants to get started on the case and "begin without further delay an effort to combat and counteract the unprecedented, vicious and libelous press and television campaign to portray him as a convicted murderer, a terrorist, a homosexual and a drug addict."

The lawyer said he and his family will travel so, and "once my client is in Memphis, where he can confer daily with me and others, we will find the whole truth and establish it."

In Wandsworth Prison, Ray and Hanes have been able to confer only with guards next to them - "hanging over our heads like pigeons in Trafalgar Square," Hanes said.

This was his point about returning to the United States - so that he and Ray can confer in private. He said he had made repeated requests through the Justice Department in Washington, both in writing and by telephone, for permission to stay with Ray on the plane home. He also demanded that Ray not be interrogated by U.S. officials without his lawyer's presence.

Hanes invoked the U.S. Supreme Court to support his plea to accompany Ray. He alluded to the Miranda decision limiting the right of police to question suspects. Under questioning by newsmen, he admitted that Miranda did not apply to a period during which a prisoner was being transported.

Nevertheless, he said a decision not to permit him on the plane would violate constitutional rights and be "high-handed, wrong and prejudicial."

Hanes also complained about reports that Fred Vinson Jr., U.S. assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's criminal division, had spoken to Ray shortly after his arrest here June 8. He said Vinson had "transgressed the rights of my client," although when reminded by newsmen that Vinson had denied speaking to Ray, he said he would not make a major issue of this.

A few legal loose ends remain to be tied up before Ray can be handed over to U.S. authorities. First the British must adjourn or drop the charges of passport forgery and carrying an unlicensed gun under which Ray was held.

A hearing is scheduled at Bow Street Magistrate's Court Thursday. Although Ray does not necessarily have to be present, British lawyers said it would be legally risky to spirit him out of the country until the hearing is finished, in case either defense, prosecution or the magistrate wanted to question him in court.

Once this is wound up, Home Secretary James Callaghan can sign the extradition warrant on the order made July 2 by Chief Magistrate Frank Hilton, who also will preside at Thursday's hearing.

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray was to be on his way back to the United States tonight or early tomorrow to face trial for the killing of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray cleared the way for his return by signing a declaration Tuesday that he did not want to appeal the order for his extradition issued by London's chief magistrate on July 8.

It was not known whether Ray's lawyers would deliver his statement to the Home Office or whether they would let the 14-day period for him to file an appeal expire this afternoon without taking further action.

In either case, Home Secretary James Callaghan could sign the order for Ray's extradition before midnight. He would then be delivered to the U.S. Justice Department for the transatlantic flight.

Informal sources said the journey would be made aboard a U.S. government plane or a chartered civil jet, with Ray under heavy guard.

Ray's American lawyer, Arthur J. Hanes of Birmingham, Ala., was due in London this morning. He may ask to accompany his client back to the United States, but U.S. officials indicated this request would be turned down.

Ray's decision not to appeal the extradition order came as a surprise after a routine court hearing Tuesday at which he sat quietly while his British lawyers agreed to leave him. Held in prison another eight days on charges he entered Britain on a forged Canadian passport and carried an unlicensed gun.

These were the charges on which he was arrested June 8 at London Airport, ending a two-month worldwide search following the slaying of the civil rights leader April 4 in Memphis, Tenn.

Ray's British lawyers had been preparing an appeal based on the contention that King's slaying was a political crime and that Ray therefore could not be extradited under British law. A hearing on the appeal had been tentatively set for June 29 even though it had not yet been filed.

In his declaration saying he would submit to extradition, Ray wrote: "I have made this decision after considering all the facts, and I believe that this is the best course of action for me to adopt."

The declaration was signed "James George Knevi," the alias on the passport Ray used and the name under which he was held in Britain.

People who talked to Ray recently in Wandsworth Jail said he had been growing restless and tired of waiting after months on the run.

They said he consistently claimed he is innocent of the killing.

Other possible factors in Ray's decision were British refusal to continue free legal aid for his appeal and the fact that, in preparation for the trial in Memphis, he and his lawyer could talk only in the presence of British prison officials.

Last week Ray wrote a brother in the United States telling him to arrange an advance payment to Hanes. When he remarked: "I could appeal my extradition hearing, but I am getting tired of listening to these liars and I might close it up about Tuesday..."

Ray's British lawyers knew about this letter and questioned him about his feelings. The "liars" he referred to apparently were the British police, who have quoted him as saying after his arrest, "Oh, God, I feel so trapped..." Ray denied saying anything like that.

Since his arrest, about a dozen Scotland Yard detectives have been tracing his movements in London.

Police informants said the detectives found no evidence here that Ray was involved in any conspiracy.

The detectives believe Ray arrived in London on May 7 from Toronto, left for Lisbon, Portugal, on the same day and returned to London on May 17. He was traced to three separate hotels, all near major air terminals.

The investigation confirmed that Ray was trying to reach Africa, possibly to join a white mercenary unit or seek sanctuary in Rhodesia, which has no extradition agreement with the United States.

Special Agent in Charge, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Memphis, Tenn., advised that James Earl Ray, known assassin, had been indicted by the United States grand jury for the murder of the Negro civil rights leader, Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. Ray professed ignorance in New Orleans.

The 40-year-old fugitive from the Missouri Penitentiary took the stand in his own defense after the U.S. government unveiled a carefully detailed case against him as "the single hand" in the assassination at the Lorraine Motel in Memphis, Tenn., April 4.

George Jacob Bonbrake, a fingerprint expert of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, testified he found Ray's prints on the rifle, telescopic sight and binoculars that were dropped at the doorway of a room near the motel shortly after King was slain.

Under questioning by his court-appointed British attorney, Roger Frisby, Ray declared in a soft, steady drawl he had never met King and that he bore him no grudge.

"Did you kill Martin Luther King?" Frisby asked.

"No, sir," the prisoner replied.

Chief Magistrate Frank Wilson, presiding in a gray suit with lots of white cuff showing, later adjourned the hearing until next Tuesday. It is expected to be completed then. Ray went back to prison.

British lawyers retained by the United States told Wilson as witnesses to the purchase of the rifle and of a signal were veterans Charles Stevens, 40, who said he heard the fatal shot fired from the common bathroom of a rooming house across South Main Street from the Lorraine Motel.

But Ray resisted moves to extradite him to stand trial for King's murder with all the legal ammunition provided by Britain's extradition laws.

If the court's decision goes against him, Frisby is expected to appeal to a higher court on the ground that King's assassination was a political crime for which Britain does not accept extradition.

Frisby electrified the court by summoning Ray to the stand for a six-minute unsworn appearance.

"Call my client," he ordered.

Ray was formally addressed as James George Innes, the alias under which he is held here on charges of entering Britain on a forged Canadian passport.

He sat rather than stood in the witness box to make less of a target in any attempt on his life and Scotland Yard detectives clustered around him in a human screen. This was the exchange:

Frisby: Did you know Martin Luther King personally?

Ray: No, sir.

Frisby: Had you ever met him?

Ray: No, sir.

Frisby: Have you any kind of grudge against him?

Ray: No, sir.

Frisby: Did you kill Martin Luther King?

Ray: No, sir.

Asked by the court clerk to sign a summary of this for evidence, Ray turned to his lawyer and said: "How could I sign it? I went into my room and closed the door. During the hearing, the U.S. case was presented by U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark. He told the story.

2025 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176

There was mystery about some of Snayd's earlier movements. London Airport officials first said he had been arrested upon flying in from Lisbon. Later they said he was outward bound for Brussels. Mrs. Thomas said he had been intending to fly to Germany.

Reports from Lisbon showed the man known as Snayd had certainly been in Lisbon earlier. He was registered at the third category Hotel Portugal May 3 at 3 p.m. arriving from Lisbon Airport with a flight bag and a suitcase. The hotel has only sleeping accommodations and no restaurant service.

He signed the register as Nelson George Snayd St. Canadian, without profession. The name spelling error in the surname also appeared on his passport and the Canadian Embassy in Lisbon said he noted this when he asked for a new passport there.

He stayed in room No. 8 on the first floor of the Hotel Portugal until May 17, when he left at 10 a.m. and paid 60.50 escudos or just over $2 per day.

The hotel staff said he usually went out about 10 each morning, often returning 11 and 12 hours later.

He appeared to have plenty of Portuguese currency and possibly ate his meals in local restaurants or bars.

The general impression Snayd gave the hotel staff was that of "a man of few words."

What he might have done in Portugal was not clear. But Ian Colvin, a reporter for the London Daily Telegraph who has close contacts with European groups recruiting foreign mercenaries in Africa, said he talked with a man calling himself Ramon Snayd several times by telephone last Sunday; the conversation gave a hint.

Colvin said: "When we first spoke, a Canadian or perhaps an American voice said to me: 'This is Ramon Snayd. I want to join my brother who has been in Portuguese Angola.'"

He has 10 brothers and sisters. None is known to be outside the United States.

Colvin said Ray called him again last Thursday and said: "This time he was more explicit. He said his brother was not missing but that he had not seen him for four months. It was not so much that he wanted to start a search for his brother, but he wished to become a mercenary in Africa himself."

Reports have circulated that some of the white mercenaries who fought in the Congo have now joined Portuguese forces battling guerrilla armies in its African territories.

There is a man not yet explained in Snayd's movements between May 17, when he left the hotel in Portugal and May 22, when he turned up at the New Paris Court Hotel in London. This hotel is near the big Paris Court stadium in West London, scene of Billy Graham's British crusades. It is in an area thickly dotted with hotels, large and small, charging moderate prices.

The population of Paris Court is cosmopolitan. Here Londoners rub shoulders with Australians and New Zealanders, Canadians, Indians and Pakistanis, Negroes from Africa or Jamaica. It is a shifting population of students and workers. No one stays very long, and everyone minds his own business.

The New Paris Court Hotel is where Snayd from May 22 to last Wednesday, when something apparently alarmed him and he shifted a couple of miles east to the even greater anonymity of Radisson's Rex Hotel.

At the New Paris Court, which is usually full, Snayd had room No. 94, a third-floor single.

June Messias, 21-year-old receptionist, remembers Snayd as "very quiet, nervous, pathetically shy and unsure of himself."

She said he had no visitors at the hotel and no telephone messages because the hotel only serves breakfasts. He went out for his meals. He took breakfast in the hotel dining room with other guests.

Miss Messias said Snayd signed the hotel register but she could not show it because the police had taken it away.

The New Paris Court Hotel, like the Rex, is near an air terminal. Only a few minutes away is the big air terminal of British European Airways, departure and arrival point for all European flights.

The U.S. government obtained Monday night a provisional British warrant charging James Earl Ray with the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., clearing ground for a formal application in the next day or two for Ray's return to the United States.

The move followed a calm and inquisitive appearance by Ray at a perfunctory, two-minute British court session during which he was assigned a British lawyer in what legal experts said could be his first move to fight extradition for trial.

It was the first bit of legal sparring in a case capable of spiralling into months of argument if the suspect contests the U.S. Justice Department request to extradite him "very soon." Legal sources said the earliest possible date for Ray's return would be June 23, but arguments could run into August if there is a battle.

Quick movement was already delayed Monday when Ray, 40, was ordered held without bail by Chief Magistrate Frank Wilton, for a hearing June 16. The issuance of the warrant followed.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr., is expected to make formal application to Britain's home secretary for extradition as soon as he receives the necessary documentation from the United States.

The home secretary, James Callaghan, will forward the application to the chief magistrate at Bow Street Court who will consider whether the documentary evidence submitted by Vinson would be substantial for extradition. The application is expected to reach the court on Tuesday.

Ray will then have 15 days to apply for a writ of habeas corpus.

Under British law and the 1935 treaty of extradition between Britain and the United States, the home secretary cannot surrender Ray to U.S. authorities before 15 days have passed.

Security measures so tight that even lawyers submitted to frisking, were in effect when Ray, husky and straight shouldered, was brought into court Monday. No one except the police and legal officers had seen Ray since his arrest Saturday when he tried to board a plane for Brussels.

Under the name Sneyd, Ray was charged with using a false passport with that name and carrying an unlicensed, loaded gun. There was no mention in court of the name Ray or of the American charges against him.

Sitting a few feet from the suspect was Vinson, who went directly from the court to a second day of consultations with British officials in his effort to speed up Ray's extradition.

U.S. legal officials in London had said earlier "the process toward extradition is already in motion and we hope to get him back to the United States very soon."

Ray is sought on an American federal warrant charging that he took part in a conspiracy to deprive King of his civil rights. He is also charged by a Tennessee court with first-degree murder in the slaying of King in Memphis April 4.

The suspect was flanked by two policemen as he faced the bench. For security reasons, Ray did not mount the raised witness stand. A cordon of police stood between him and the gallery in back of the room, providing a human shield against any possible attempt on Ray's life.

A score of policemen stood against the walls, eyeing the spectators, who included a few Negroes and four women.

Received June 10

100-80679-10

Detective Superintendent Thomas Butler, in a low voice, named Ray as Snowy and listed the charges. He then asked for a "remand"--that Ray be held in custody--until June 18. This is a normal procedure used while the British prosecution prepares its case.

Before Ray left the court, Milton asked in a barely audible voice if he wanted legal restrictions on press coverage lifted.

Wilton then asked Ray: "Do you have anything to say?"

Wilton ordered Ray held for a further hearing next Tuesday and the prisoner was swiftly escorted out of the courtroom and into a van believed headed to the top security Brixton Prison.

The onlookers and newsmen were admitted one by one and searched from head to toe for concealed weapons. Only the first 100 were admitted. The rest, including flower sellers from neighboring Covent Gardens and a few pin-striped businessmen, had to wait outside.

It is expected that Ray will be moved from Brixton Prison where he is now held to Wandsworth Prison later this week. This move is being made so that two police officers may be stationed in Ray's cell to keep a 24-hour watch on him.

It is expected that the application for an extradition order will be made both on the charge of murder and that of robbery for which he was serving a sentence in Missouri State penitentiary when he escaped.

Winnon is expected to produce a certificate from the warden of the Missouri Penitentiary that Ray is an escaped prisoner, and additional documentation from witnesses on the murder charge.

The extradition proceedings will be held in open court. Normally, the documentation submitted would be read in court. Legal sources expect Ray to ask for a new team of attorneys to defend him on the extradition request. The attorneys then would be likely to ask for time to study the case.

If convicted on a charge of entering Britain illegally, Ray could simply be deported. However, legal experts here say there is a strong tradition against using this measure as a substitute for extradition.

The 15-day period following the extradition hearing is designed to permit an appeal to the High Court. This presumably could be dealt with quickly by the High Court, but if Ray's attorneys raised a point of law a further appeal could be made to the House of Lords.

The extradition treaty provides that a person shall not be surrendered for a "political offense." This might form a possible basis for appeal on Ray's behalf.

As Ray appeared in court, tips and pieces emerged of the life he led while on the run. Ray entered Canada April 3, spent until May 6 in Toronto, then left aboard a BOAC plane for London. He went from there to Lisbon May 8, and stayed in the Portuguese capital until May 17.

It is believed he then returned to London, traveling on the Canadian passport he obtained in Lisbon. He had received one earlier in Toronto by applying through the mails, using the name of Sneyd, a Toronto constable. But Ray did not resurface until May 23 in London.

He apparently had an idea of going on to Brussels, where he thought he might join a mercenary army and ship out to Africa. This supposition grew out of his report of a British journalist, Ian Colvan, who said a man identifying himself as Mamon Sneyd questioned him by telephone last week about joining a mercenary group.

Police in Toronto, London and Lisbon were directing their investigations toward determining if Ray had assistance—people who might have known him or helped him.

In Toronto a spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said there was no definite indication that Ray had any contacts during the month he spent in the city.

This followed a report that Mrs. Ann Lee, the owner of a rooming house in which he stayed, said that she saw a "fat man" pass a small envelope to Ray about four days before he flew to London. Ray got the envelope on the day his rent was due and the day he paid $245 for an excursion flight ticket to London.

The RCMP spokesman said preliminary investigation showed that the man who delivered the package did not know Ray and was simply making a delivery. "Every effort is being made to trace this man, but so far there is no indication as to who he is," the spokesman said.

Toronto Metropolitan police dismissed another report that a blonde woman calling herself "Sneyd's aunt" picked up a birth certificate for him at a provincial registrar's office. Waiters at a bar in Toronto's West End said they remember seeing Ray drinking beer and watching go-go girls on at least three occasions. He is also remembered at two pool halls where customers say he asked to shoot a game.

LONDON, June 10 (AP)--A British court ordered James Earl Ray held without bail Monday for a hearing June 12 and the United States obtained a provisional British warrant charging him with the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The formal application for Ray's extradition will be made by the U.S. government in the next day or two. Legal experts said this meant the earliest Ray could be returned to face trial in the United States is June 20.

But they added if he decides to fight extradition the case could drag on here to July or August.

Ray made the first move toward a possible flight by obtaining a British lawyer after his preliminary appearance in Bow Street court Monday morning.

The 40-year-old, who was 2nd and 3rd time felon, was charged June 10.

PEOPLE who encountered James Earl Ray in the month he spent in Canada after the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. say he once was handed an envelope by a fat man and that he visited a bar several times to drink beer and watch go-go dancers. Mrs. Ida Sun Loo, Ray's landlady at one of two Toronto rooming houses where he stayed, said the fat man was the only visitor who suggested Miller had in 1968. Ray got the envelope on the day his $9-a-week rent was due and the day he paid a Toronto travel agency $345 for a round trip air ticket to London. Ray arrived in London in mid-May and was arrested there Saturday.

A spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said, however, detectives were not convinced that Ray was helped by accomplices while in Toronto.

"On the contrary, the only indication of that is that one man delivered an envelope and left," the spokesman said. "It may have been mail or something from a travel bureau."

Patrons of two Toronto pool halls said he showed up but walked away when asked to shoot a game.

Two waiters at the Silver Dollar Bar in the Beverly Hotel said they saw Ray sitting at a front-row table, drinking beer and watching the go-go dancers.

It was believed that Ray was at the bar with another man for two or three consecutive nights between April 30 and May 5.

A blonde dancer also said she had seen Ray. She said another dancer, Matti Stanford, pointed him out.

The dancer described the man with Ray as fair complexioned, husky and wearing a yellow T-shirt.

On Ray, she said: "He looked at go. It wasn't the way a man looks at a girl. It was . . . sort of like he didn't approve."

"The first night I smiled at him. He looked kind of disgusted," Police said Ray may have spent two months in Montreal last summer. They said a man resembling Ray and using the name of Eric Starvo Galt, one of Ray's aliases, checked into a Montreal rooming house early in July and stayed until early September.

The janitor of the rooming house, they said, identified Ray from photographs and said he thought at the time that Ray was an American tourist visiting Expo 67.

Ray arrived in London in mid-May and was arrested there Saturday.

LONDON, AP -- The British government started speedy official action on a formal U.S. request Wednesday for the extradition of James Earl Ray, to stand trial in Tennessee for the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

By the end of the day the application had cleared its first legal hurdle at the British Foreign Office.

But court formalities and appeals, if the 40-year-old escaped convict chooses to use them, could delay Ray's return to six weeks or even longer should the case take some unexpected turn.

U.S. officials, headed by Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr., chief of the Justice Department's criminal divisions, beat their self-imposed deadline for handing in the petition by one day.

But parts of the petition, which was at least an inch thick when it was handed in to the Foreign Office by U.S. Consul General Jack Dorfert, apparently had been readied in advance of Ray's arrest last Saturday at London Airport as he tried to board a plane for Brussels.

The petition contained a summary of some of the evidence against Ray in King's murder at a Memphis motel April 4.

It also contained information on his escape from the Missouri State Prison while serving an armed robbery charge.

The U.S. government is seeking extradition on both counts and must satisfy a British judge that both would also be crimes under British as well as U.S. law.

The petition also contains fingerprints and other material identifying Ray as the man now being held under round-the-clock guard in London's Wandsworth Prison. Officially he is being held here as Ramon George Sneyd, travelling under a Canadian passport issued in that name and charged with passport offenses as well as carrying a loaded gun.

Within hours after receiving the petition, the Foreign Office certified that the request fell within the terms of the 1931 extradition treaty between the two countries.

It then was sent to the Home Office, roughly comparable to the U.S. Justice Department. There lawyers started a preliminary screening to ensure it established a case against Ray, as required by British law.

The Home Office said that if the petition is in order it should be in the hands of Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Frank Milton sometime Thursday.

James Earl Ray, who helped solved today into the mysteries of the world on last week for the extradition of the man accused of killing Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray has been traced to two London hotels between May 20 and his arrest Saturday, but there is an unexplained gap of about 10 days, starting May 17 when he last slipped.

But agents were understood to be working with Scotland Yard detectives, but British police are doing the spatework since the FBI has no legal authority in foreign countries. Police on both sides of the Atlantic are trying to untangle Ray's travels, which last led to Canada, where he arrived after his escape April 4.

Ray was transferred Tuesday to a maximum security cell in Wandsworth Prison because Wandsworth Jail on London's South side was not considered secure enough.

Extradition proceedings could last two months if the 40-year-old escaped convict fights all the way through the British courts.

As a first step, American authorities have obtained a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of King in Memphis, Tenn. A State Department spokesman in Washington said documents to support the extradition request "will be transmitted to London shortly."

The British police are holding Ray on charges of using a forged passport and carrying a loaded gun. On Scotland Yard's records he is officially listed as Ramon George Sneyd, the name on his Canadian passport.

U.S. officials have not tried to question Ray to avoid legal complications resulting from Supreme Court decisions in recent years, and now that he has been charged under British law, Scotland Yard cannot interrogate him outside a courtroom.

While British police were trying to ascertain whether Ray had any contacts in London, detectives in Toronto were searching for a short blond man who reportedly came looking for Ray in a rooming house three or four days after the subject fled to London.

The landlady, Mrs. Fain Szabolcsi, told police about the caller, the second Ray reportedly had during his month-long stay in Toronto after the assassination of King. The first was an unidentified fat man who was reported to have called on Ray at another rooming house.

Mrs. Szabolcsi said the blond caller presented a police identification card, but both the Mounted Police and the Toronto Police said he was not a policeman.

Toronto detectives also questioned Samuel Marshall, an assistant manager of a supermarket who claimed he saw a man resembling Ray in his store on April 23. Marshall reportedly told police the man asked for employment but left when the store manager approached.

An employee in a magazine store told Toronto police a man who resembled Ray bought two gallop-horse-grammed books and paid the $10 price in quarters. A woman who operates a variety store near one of the rooming houses where Ray stayed said he bought cigarettes there.

Mrs. Sun Lee, Ray's other landlady, who reported to have found in his room after he left for London an empty overnight bag, six rolls of film, a photographic light meter, a small empty strongbox, a can of Toronto, three girls magazines, three empty beer bottles and a dirty white shirt.

The Atlanta, Ga., Constitution, in a copyright article, said that an apartment manager in the Southern city's hippie district reported a man using the name Eric Starvo Galt stayed in his building for two to three weeks prior to the slaying of King. The name is one of the aliases under which Ray was wanted by the FBI.

The manager said the man "looked more like a preacher than a convict" in 1967 and June 12.

Some legal experts suggested the British government might speed up the process by deporting Ray as an undesirable alien. But other lawyers said there is a strong tradition against using this procedure as a substitute for extradition.

The 40-year-old escaped convict was held in Brixton Prison after his two-minute appearance Monday in Bow Street Court on charges of carrying a forged passport and a loaded gun, the charges on which he was arrested at London Airport Saturday under the name of Ramon George Sneyd.

Police equipped with walkie-talkies threw a cordon around the prison and blocked all roads leading to it. Unauthorized persons were kept at least 150 yards away.

Scotland Yard was reported planning to move Ray from Brixton, three miles south of downtown London, to Wandsworth, a jail in a western suburb. Security at Wandsworth has been tightened since Ronald Arthur Briggs, one of the Great Train Robbers, disappeared over the wall there four years ago.

Ray at his first court appearance Monday was assigned a British lawyer at his own request and ordered held without bail for another hearing June 16 on the passport and gun charges.

If extradition proceedings are brought, the court will require evidence of a case against Ray and he will then have 15 days to appeal to the High Court. If Ray's lawyers raised points of law there, a further appeal might be made to the House of Lords, and the process could take months.

Some experts saw a precedent for the deportation of Ray in the case of Robert Soblen, who fled from the United States to Israel in 1962 after being sentenced to life imprisonment on charges that he was a Soviet spy. En route back to America, he stabbed himself and was taken off a plane at London for treatment.

The British government ordered Soblen out of the country as an undesirable alien and an appeals court ruled the move legal. But Soblen took poison while being sent to the airport and died.

In the two months American authorities searched for Ray following King's assassination April 4 in Memphis, Tenn., he went from the United States to Canada on April 8, to London May 1 and to Lisbon May 2. He left his Lisbon hotel on May 17 and surfaced again in London on May 26.

Police in those countries sought anyone who might have known or helped Ray, and authorities in Canada also tried to learn how Ray obtained information on the three Toronto men whose names he used as aliases.

All three men have dark hair and are about the same height and weight as Ray.

Ramon George Sneyd, whose name Ray used on his passport, is a Toronto constable. Paul Bridgman, whose name Ray used at his Toronto rooming house, is a consultant teacher with the Toronto board of education.

Ray first was sought under the name Eric Starvo Galt. Eric St. Vincent Galt, a Toronto warehouse foreman, has a signature which looks like Eric Starvo Galt. He uses the middle initials St. V., but with small e's instead of periods.

Galt and Ray have similar scars, in the middle of the forehead and on the palm of the right hand.

LONDON, June 2, Ray, AC28: Hand.

"I don't know what to think," Galt said. "It's a bit more than coincidence. The weight is right, the height range is right and the identification marks are there."

"I've wondered where our paths might have crossed, but I just don't know."

Galt said he was in the Memphis area two years ago and that he traveled regularly to Florida for skin diving in the summer.

Ray, however, was in the Missouri state prison until he escaped in April 1967 with more than 12 years remaining of a 20-year sentence. Missouri also seeks Ray's extradition from Britain on the prison break charge. If he is returned to the United States, the Tennessee murder charge is expected to be given precedence over the Missouri charge and a federal charge that Ray conspired to violate Dr. King's civil rights.

Police believe Ray was the man who checked into a Montreal rooming house last summer under the name of Galt. Galt said he was not in Montreal last summer and that FBI agents told him he was the only Eric S. Galt in Canada.

Canadian police also were checking a report by Mrs. Yee Sun Loo, owner of a Toronto rooming house where Ray stayed, that a "fat man" passed an envelope to Ray on May 2, the day he paid $245 for an excursion flight ticket to London.

A spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said a preliminary investigation indicated the man may not have known Ray and may just have been making a delivery.

"Every effort is being made to trace this man, but so far there is no indication as to who he is," the spokesman said.

Others in Toronto who encountered a man they thought was Ray included two waiters at the Silver Dollar Bar in the Waverly Hotel and a go-go dancer there. The waiters said the man sat at a front table, drinking beer and watching the dancers.

"He looked at me," said the dancer. "It wasn't the way a man looks at a girl. It was... sort of like he didn't approve. The first night I smiled at him, he looked kind of disgusted."

The U.S. Embassy declined details of the petition. It merely described it as documents required for the extradition proceedings. It stressed the urgency with which the U.S. Justice Department regards the case. Officials managed to collect the necessary documents a day ahead of their own deadline.
The documents run several hundred pages and contain information on Ray's identification and record, including his birth in connection with King's murder and Ray's escape from the Missouri State Penitentiary where he served a 99-year sentence.
The foreign office now must verify that the request satisfies the terms of the extradition treaty with the United States. The Home Office then rules on the validity of the murder case under British as well as U.S. law. Then the file goes to a judge for a court hearing.
The formal extradition request came as Scotland Yard delved into the mysteries of Ray's stay in Britain.

LONDON, AP -- "Oh, God-I feel so trapped," James Earl Ray, quoted by Detective Chief Supt. Thomas Butler of Scotland Yard in a deceptively calm voice, were the dramatic high point of James Earl Ray's extradition hearing in Bow Street Magistrates Court today. There was a murmur among spectators packed at the back of the court. A dozen plain-clothed policemen stationed in the court jostled for attention. Ray's left hand drifted to the back of his head and he rubbed his dark hair. The gruff-looking detective was explaining to Chief Magistrate Frank Hilton how the man accused of assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Memphis, Tenn., April 4, reacted when he was told soon after his arrest here June 5 that he was suspected.

Butler said he spoke to Ray in his prison cell soon after his arrest. He said he told him, "I now believe your name is not George Sneyd, but James Earl Ray, that you are also known as Eric Starvo Galt and by other names and that you are wanted at present in the United States for various criminal offenses including murder in which a firearm was used."

Butler testified the prisoner, who had been standing, suddenly slumped down on the seat behind him and he put his head in his hands and said, "Oh God."

"After a moment or so, he added, 'I feel so trapped.'"

Butler said he cautioned Ray that any statement he made could be used as evidence in subsequent court proceedings.

By reply, he said, "Well, yes, I should not say anything more now. I cannot think right."

Ray wore heavy horn-rimmed glasses in court. He was not handcuffed and he occasionally rubbed his arms.

After the scene in his prison cell was recalled to him by Butler his hands became more active, tapping the desk in front of him and pulling his rather prominent ears.

The Bow Street Court, adjoining the Bow Street police station, and four magistrates, normally, the flow of humanity through the four court rooms in the building consists largely of what a chief magistrate once described as "melancholy procession of drunks" and many prostitutes.

The court corresponds to an American police court and its jurisdiction includes the houses of Parliament, Whitehall, Buckingham Palace, Piccadilly Circus and part of Regent Street. However, there are some matters in which the chief magistrate at Bow Street has exclusive jurisdiction throughout Britain. One of these is extradition. Others are deportation and the issuance of licenses to take children abroad for adoption. That is why James Earl Ray is having his future decided there.

CALCUTT, PUBLICLY OUTLINING THE U.S. GOVERNMENT'S CASE AGAINST RAY FOR THE FIRST TIME, TOLD BRITISH MAGISTRATES IN THE 30M STREET COURT IN CENTRAL LONDON THAT KING'S ROOM AT THE LORRAINE HOTEL IN MEMPHIS WAS OVERLOOKED BY A BATHROOM WINDOW ACROSS THE STREET.

HE SAID THAT AT FOUR P.M. APRIL 4 THE DEFENDANT WENT TO 424 1/2 SOUTH MAIN STREET, MEMPHIS, WHERE ACCOMMODATION WAS AVAILABLE, AND BOOKED A ROOM.

THE ATTORNEY TOLD THE COURT THAT THE DEFENDANT WAS SEEN BY A WITNESS--HE NAMED HIM AS MR. STEVENS--WHO OCCUPIED THE NEXT ROOM.

STEVENS SAID THAT BETWEEN FOUR AND SIX P.M., THE DEFENDANT USED THE BATHROOM AND LAVATORY ON THREE OCCASIONS, EACH TIME FOR A LONG SPELL, CALCUTT TOLD THE COURT.

CALCUTT CONTINUED, "AT SIX O'CLOCK, MR. STEVENS SAYS HE HEARD A SHOT FIRED FROM THE BATHROOM. HE CAME OUT OF HIS ROOM AND SAW A MAN LEAVING BELOW. HE SAYS IT WAS THE MAN WHO HE HAD SEEN BOOKING IN EARLIER."

The defendant left in a hurry, leaving binoculars in his room. When he got out of the hotel entrance, he turned left and dropped his kit of rifle, sights and binoculars in the doorway.

He then made off in a car waiting nearby.

Calcutt said the Memphis police took position of the rifle and binoculars. They say the defendant's fingerprints were on them, he added.

There is tie in with the defendant's photo picture and fingerprints, Calcutt said. The bullet which killed Dr. King was examined when recovered and there is a strong likelihood that the bullet came from the rifle found by the police.

It is also likely that the strap found in his room belonged to the binoculars found with the rifle.

Calcutt said that in September 1969 Ray or Enay.

as he still called him was convicted of armed robbery.

He was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment, he said.

But on April 23, 1967, he escaped from the Missouri State Penitentiary with 13 years of his sentence left to serve.

Calcutt then read extracts from written testimony by Frederick Williamson, a director of the Corrections Department of the Missouri Penitentiary. He produced photographs and fingerprints and said:

He says the man in these photos from this records office is the man before you today.

LONDON--(AP) - James Earl Ray's fingerprints were found on the rifle which U.S. police believe was used to kill Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a British lawyer representing the U.S. government told London's chief magistrate today in asking for Ray's extradition.

The lawyer, David Calcutt, told Magistrate Frank Wilton that Ray's fingerprints were found on a rifle which police recovered after King was shot.

The bullet which killed Dr. King was examined when recovered, he continued, and there is a strong likelihood that the bullet came from the rifle found by the police.

Calcutt told the crowded Bow Street Court that King was the victim of "a calculated, brutal and senseless murder-a murder that was bitter with irony."

John Doshazo, an Alabamian, declared in a sworn affidavit read out by Calcutt last on March 29 he was in the Birmingham store when he saw a man in a dark business suit handle several packages and buy a Remington rifle. The man said he was going hunting in Wisconsin with his brother or brother-in-law, Doshazo said.

Doshazo was visited by FBI agents on April 13 and shown pictures of seven white men. He identified one as being the man who bought the rifle, Calcutt said.

Charles Stevens, 46, no fixed address, said in another affidavit read by Calcutt that from March 1967 to June 1968 he lived with his common-law wife in an apartment on South Main Street in Memphis.

On April 4, Stevens said, he saw and heard a man standing with the managers of the apartment building, Mrs. Beanie Brown, near Apartment 6, which was just down the hall from his. He assumed the man was looking for a room.

On April 24, Stevens said he identified an FBI "wanted profile" as very much like the man he had seen. His apartment was next to the common bathroom, his statement continued. After seeing the strange man with Mrs. Brown, he found someone in Apartment 6 who showed it had been rented by the

Stephen and I saw."

"I was in a kitchen working on a small radio when I heard a shot. I could tell that it came from the bathroom because it was very loud."

He was carrying a bundle in his right hand. It was at least three or four feet long and six to eight inches thick. It was wrapped in what looked like newspaper."

Bonbrake said he found from the print on the rifle 14 characteristics the same as on the prints on the rifle. A fugitive from the Missouri State Penitentiary, he found 21 similar characteristics from the prints on the telescopic sight. Bonbrake examined by Frisby, the court-appointed lawyer defending Ray, Bonbrake said he took an interest in his country's politics although his work did not bring him in contact with them unless they were connected with fingerprints he was examining. He agreed that King was a nationally known figure. Asked if he believed the Negro leader inspired liking or dislike in America, he replied: "More toward liking, I would think."

But he agreed there was a certain amount of dislike too. Bonbrake said he knew of King's movement, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, but he said that, to the best of his recollection, he knew of no commitment to any political party by the conference. When the court suspended session for a luncheon break, detectives continued to guard all doors of the courthouse. Newsmen had to show credentials to get in or out and members of the public were searched for weapons.

U.S. v.
 JAMES EARL RAY
 Ray, 31st 1018 Lead
 By LAWRENCE MALKIN
 Associated Press Writer

LONDON AP — A British magistrate announced today that he would decide on June 27 whether James Earl Ray should be returned to the United States for trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The 40-year-old escaped convict was brought before Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Frank Milton in Bow Street Magistrate's Court for the first of what could be many court sessions on the U.S. government's application to extradite him.

Milton, after spending the weekend studying the inch-thick file from Washington, said he needed more time to thresh out the complexities of the extradition laws.

He instructed that Ray be returned to Wandsworth Prison. Ray was arrested 3rd graf 1018.

 LONDON Ray, Lead 1044 add: Wandsworth Prison.

Milton also probably deferred his decision because of the expected arrival Wednesday of two attorneys from Birmingham, Ala., Arthur J. Harris and his son, Arthur Jr., to act as Ray's counsel.

The hearing today was the customary two-minute session when a court has decided on a postponement.

The small courtroom was filled with about 100 persons, mostly newsmen.

Ray, wearing a blue checkered suit and glasses, sat impassively in the dock while attorneys and the magistrate discussed details.

After Milton fixed the extradition hearing date, Ray spoke only two words: "Thank you."

He was separated from the spectators by a wall of policemen and detectives. Police also lined the corridor through which he reached the courtroom.

Attorneys for the U.S. government told the magistrate that Ray is wanted on a charge of murdering Dr. King in Memphis April 4 and also on a charge of escaping from Missouri State Prison while serving an armed robbery sentence.

Documentary evidence already has been produced in London, the American lawyers told the court, and a fingerprint expert will be flown over to testify at the extradition hearing.

LONDON (AP) — Arthur J. Hanes, an Alabama lawyer, said today he has accepted the case of defending James Earl Ray against charges of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King.

The former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., said he is unlikely to be allowed to see Ray, who is being held in the former death cell at London's Wandsworth Prison pending an extradition hearing at Bow Street Magistrates Court June 27.

Hanes refused any comment on the extradition issue, which is being handled by a British law firm appointed by the court. The British lawyers met Hanes at a news conference, but followed British legal rules by refusing to answer any questions on the case.

LONDON AP - Counsel for James Earl Ray, who is accused of slaying Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., indicated today he would seek to save Ray from extradition by contending that the assassination of the American civil rights leader was a political crime.

Under the U.S.-British extradition treaty, political grounds are a principal reason for granting asylum to anyone and barring extradition.

A hearing in historic Bow Street court was held under security precautions unprecedented in British judicial history. It took a dramatic turn when it government gave evidence that Ray's fingerprints were found on the rifle suspected of killing Kennedy.

Ray was in the murky courtroom under heavy guard and heard a Scotland Yard detective testify that shortly after he was caught he collapsed in his cell moaning: "My God, I feel I am framed."

The extent of King's involvement in American politics was raised by a British newspaper.

Attorney Roger Brisby closely questioned an American witness in an effort to get statements about King's political involvement into the court record.

at one point the witness, George Jacob Bonebrake, an FBI fingerprint expert, admitted under questioning that there had been a certain amount of dislike for King in the United States.

The lawyers were dressed in business suits, and so was the magistrate. There were the traditional British lawyers' wigs because procedure and traditions in this police court are more informal. Ray wore the same dark blue checked sports jacket in which he had appeared briefly in the same court trial before. He wore no tie with his dark blue sports shirt.
This was Calcutt's version of the evidence against Ray, drawn from the documents submitted by the U.S. Embassy.
On March 29 Ray went into the Loro Marine Supply
Co. in Birmingham, Ala., and bought a rifle with a telescopic sight from Donald Hood, the son of the owner.
The next day he came back and exchanged it for a Remington 760 rifle, Serial No. 46475, with a telescopic sight numbered 117800.

John Lechase of Montgomery, Ala., another customer in the store, told FBI agents later that Ray -- or a man he tentatively identified as Ray through pictures -- had bought a rifle and said he was going hunting in Wisconsin with his brother or brother-in-law.

On April 3, according to a sworn statement by receptionist
Henrietta Ingersmaster, Ray booked into the new Rebel Motor Hotel in Memphis. Then he went to a Memphis store run by a Mr. York and bought a pair of Bushnell binoculars numbered 450666 with a case and strap in a yellow and black box, and wrapped in a gray-blue paper bag. He got a receipt for $41.95.
The next affidavit came from Stevenson, one of the government's key witnesses. On the day of King's death, he was living with his common law wife in apartment 4B of the rooming house on 422 1/2 South Main St., Memphis, which from the rear faced the hotel where King was shot.

On that day, he said, he saw the man, George, Bessie Brewer, standing near apartment 4B, just down the hall from his.
William unidentified man, Stevenson's apartment was next to the common bathroom, separated from his kitchen by only a thin plywood partition.

Stevenson, who spent most of his time in bed, said he heard something on April 4, coming from apartment 4B, to the bathroom.

"On the first couple of times, he did not stay long. On the third time the person stayed there what seemed like a long time toward the end of the afternoon between 5 and 6 p.m. I wanted to use the toilet.

"I was in my kitchen working on a travel radio when I heard a shot. I could tell that it came from the bathroom because I was very loud.

"Then I heard voices yelling and hollering in the Lorraine Hotel. I went out and saw a man running and carrying a bundle about three or four feet long and six or eight inches thick, wrapped in newspaper. Although I didn't get a good look at him, I think it was the same man I saw earlier with Mrs. Brewer."

201-0832732

Butler said he later saw the defendant with Chief Inspector Thompson in a cell at Cannon Road. He told him: "As a result of inquiries made since you were detained, we have very good reason to believe that you are not a Canadian citizen but an American."

The defendant was said to have replied: "Oh well, you know, and worked in agreement."

Butler continued: "I now believe your name is not Gray but James Earl Ray. Also known as Eric Starvo Galt and other names, and that you are wanted in the United States for serious offenses, including murder in which a firearm was used."

Butler told the court this statement had a dramatic effect.

"The accused had been standing up," he said. "But at this he suddenly slumped down on the seat behind him and he put his head in his hands and said: 'Oh God.'"

After a moment or so, he added:

Before the police officers testified about Ray's arrest, Magistrate Frank Milton broke in to say that the defendant would be held in custody until July 8 on the two British charges against him—using a forged passport and carrying a firearm without authorization.

It has been generally understood that these holding charges will probably be dropped altogether if extradition is approved.

However, the fact that the magistrate set the date of July 8 seemed to indicate no quick ending to the extradition proceedings.

The Air Force said it therefore would not require the funds in its original budget request for the new fiscal year.

In response to queries about the committee's new action, Maxwell said it would have no impact on the redesign phase of the program, currently under way at Boeing and scheduled for completion by next June 15.

Ray said he was a 107 side exhibition.

Ray was being escorted by two police officers and did not wear handcuffs as he entered the courtroom.

He was wearing a light blue shirt and dark trousers. He was accompanied by his British attorney, Roger Pritchard.

Pritchard said he would rather Ray walked back the usual path now afforded, meaning taking the path without inspecting food.

"His tactic about food, which is a legal procedure, was not to be over-emphasized by the British attorney," Pritchard said.

During a break in the hearing, Ray answered a series of questions from his lawyer. He agreed that he was the man arrested at London Airport June 9.

He said he had never met Dr. King and bore him no grudge.

"Did you kill Dr. King?"

"No sir," Ray replied.

Again on his counsel's advice, Ray said he did not wish to sign the court recording of his testimony.

The Bow Street Magistrates Court adjourned then until next Tuesday, when the hearing is expected to end.

Ray was sent back to prison.

After thorough presentation of the prosecution's case, Ray declared at the winding up of that phase of the hearing that

"Parts of some of the testimony are false and some are exaggerated."

"I would like to disagree with them and say something about this," he said.

Chief Magistrate Frank Wilton had advised him about his right to call witnesses and give testimony in his own behalf.

When the court resumed Pritchard said Ray disagreed with many of the facts given by Detective Chief Supt. Thomas Butler of Scotland Yard.

In a dramatic high point of the hearing, Butler had testified that, on hearing in his prison cell that the police identified him as an American wanted for a killing rather than as Canadian George Sneyd, his alias, Ray slumped into a seat and said:

"Oh God... I feel so trapped."

Pritchard said Ray wished in particular "to state most emphatically that he did not make the observation: 'I feel so trapped.'"

"Nor did he say 'Oh God,' nor did he collapse on the seat in the manner which the chief superintendent described," Pritchard said.

In court maneuvering, Pritchard raised the matter of King's involvement in American politics. He questioned Bonebrake closely about this in an effort to get statements about such political involvement in the record.

The FBI agent admitted under questioning that there had been a certain amount of dislike for King in the United States.

Later Hopkirk, a correspondent of the London Times, appeared for the defense on a subpoena.

Hopkirk said he was in the United States in April covering the presidential primaries. He went to Memphis the morning after King was killed and spent four or five days there inquiring into his death.

"It was no secret that he was disliked by many white people living in the South," Hopkirk said.

Bonebrake said 6th grad 2nd Lead 1077-050.

By LAWRENCE W. B. LORR... The next round in the legal battle to extradite the accused assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to the United States for trial was fought for Britain's high court on July 28.

The British lawyer for James Earl Ray, the fugitive convict accused of King's murder, announced the date in Magistrates Court Tuesday while Ray was making a routine, one-minute appearance on British charges against him.

Magistrate Frank Milton asked Defense Attorney Michael Eugene whether the date for Ray's appeal had been set. Told it had been, he ordered Ray back to Wandsworth Prison for another week.

Ray is to appear again next Tuesday for a similar hearing and probably will be returned to prison on British charges of entering the country on a forged Canadian passport and carrying an unlicensed gun.

These have in effect developed into holding charges, and the police are expected to drop them if Ray is extradited. Milton ordered the extradition on July 2 but Ray's lawyers there announced they would appeal on the grounds that King's assassination was a political crime and therefore extradition was barred under British law.

The high court hearing is expected to last about two days and will be largely a rehearing of the arguments presented to Magistrate Milton. But the lawyers probably will concentrate more on the legal technicalities of the case. If as expected the decision goes against Ray, he can still appeal to the House of Lords but only if the appeal court or the Lords decide he has a point of law on which to base an appeal.

If the Lords—Britain's highest court—refuse to hear a further appeal, Ray probably would be sent back to the United States around the beginning of August.

By LAWYER WINTER

Associated Press Writer

LONDON, June 19 — Attorney Arthur J. Hanes Sr., former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., said Thursday he has been retained by James Earl Ray to defend him against the charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"He sent word to me," Hanes told a news conference. "As of now I will be his lawyer. He retained me in the event that he is extradited."

Ray is held in the former death cell at London's Wandsworth Prison pending an extradition hearing at Bow Street Magistrates Court next Thursday. A fugitive from the Missouri State Penitentiary, he is accused of gunning down King, the Negro civil rights leader, at Memphis, Tenn., April 4.

Hanes arrived in London Thursday morning with his son and partner, Arthur J. Hanes Jr. He told newsmen, however, he is unlikely to be allowed to see Ray.

Under British law, police are entitled to prevent a prisoner from seeing anyone except his lawyers and only British lawyers are considered here as counsel.

Ray has two court-appointed British lawyers, Michael Bresden and Michael Eugene. They sat flanking Hanes at the news conference, but followed British legal rules by refusing to answer any questions about the case.

Hanes said he will take no part in the extradition proceedings. He will not even be allowed by the British lawyers to see the extradition petition and supporting evidence submitted by the U.S. Embassy.

Bresden and Eugene are being paid under the British legal aid system. Hanes was repeatedly asked who was paying for his trip and who would pay his legal fees for a trial in Memphis.

First he said he "would not discuss fees and the source of any funds."

Asked who paid for the trip, he replied: "No comment."

Later he said of his fee: "Somebody will provide, the neighbors, or some way. . . I have faith that I'll get by."

In Birmingham, Hanes had been quoted as saying he "understands this man has funds." He denied saying this. When asked whether sufficient money was available for a long legal battle, he replied: "I'll strat it off, like the kickoff of a game. If any group were behind it, I'd of course carry it on."

But he said he was not allied with any group "right or left."

"I only belong to the Lions and the P.B.," he said.

Hanes successfully defended three Klansmen in an Alabama State court three years ago against a charge they murdered Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a Detroit, Mich., civil rights worker slain March 25, 1968, after a Selma-to-Montgomery march. The three were subsequently convicted in a federal court of criminal conspiracy in her case and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

As for the Ray case, he said: "There are no political overtones to it. I am not interested in any political ideology. I try a case on its merits."

Hanes was asked whether he had ever met King, who began as a minister in Birmingham. He said he had and added: "As far as I'm concerned his business was his business, and mine was mine. I don't knock his kick."

He said he had never seen Ray before and had received his first communication from him June 14. He said he still was not certain whether the man now in custody is Ray and could not know until he talked to him.

"Since I received the letter I have not been dial," he said.

"I and my associates and investigators have not been dial."

He would not elaborate.

The British government set the stage for the hearing when the Home Office authorized Chief Magistrate Frank Milton of the Bow Street Court to start the American case against Ray and begin proceedings.

It was Milton who heard the two British charges against Ray - carrying a forged passport and a loaded gun - at Bow Street Monday. At the time he ordered Ray to appear in court again next Tuesday on these charges.

But the sources said the court may drop the British charges and instead begin hearings on the U.S. extradition petition.

In any case, the sources said, Milton is expected to open the extradition proceedings within a week.

Ray, 40, was arrested Saturday while trying to catch a plane to Brussels. He carried a false Canadian passport in the name of Brian George Sneyd. The name he is held under in London's Wandsworth Prison with a round-the-clock police guard in the same cell.

TORONTO (AP) — A 34-year-old man who earlier was believed involved with James Earl Ray, accused assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, has been cleared by Toronto police.

A spokesman said today the man told police he found an unsealed letter in a telephone booth near a Dundas Street rooming house where Ray stayed. He said he delivered it to Ray. Earlier this week, Mrs. Sun Hoo, the rooming house landlady, told police a tall fat man in a white T-shirt went to her house and asked for Simon Gray, an alias Ray was using while in Toronto. She said she saw the man give Ray a envelope. The man told police he could not remember to whom the letter was addressed or what it contained. The police spokesman said the man's name would not be disclosed.

Ray, arrested in London Saturday, came here April 2, four days after King's assassination, and left by air May 6. He lived in two different rooming houses while here and used at least two aliases.

The police spokesman said that although city police and Royal Canadian Mounted Police have no definite clues to indicate Ray had help from other persons while in the city, the investigation into his stay here is continuing.

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray began a legal fight Tuesday against extradition to the United States to face the charge of assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The 40-year-old escaped convict sat silently in a well-guarded dock while his British lawyer asked London's Bow Street Court for as much time as possible to prepare for the extradition hearing.

Judge Frank Milton gave him until June 27, the date he set for the hearing to begin.

An attorney representing the United States presented their extradition request to Milton. Ray said barely a word and displayed not a flicker of emotion in the eight-minute session. He was dressed in a neat, blue-checked suit, wore heavily rimmed glasses and was surrounded by police in court.

Milton addressed Ray only once, to inform him of when the formal hearing on the extradition request would be held and that he could continue to work in court.

Ray replied quietly, "Thank you."

oger Frisby, the British lawyer defending Ray, told Milton he wanted as much time as possible to prepare, but Milton said he thought it "highly desirable that an early date be fixed."

They compromised on the June 27 date.

An American lawyer is due in London later this week to discuss preparation of Ray's defense if he is extradited to Tennessee to stand trial. King was slain in Memphis April 4.

The lawyer is Arthur J. Rensch, former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., and a segregationist who defended three men accused of murdering Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a civil rights worker, in Alabama three years ago. Asked about payment for Ray's defense, Rensch said he "understands this man has funds."

Rensch told newsmen in Birmingham he was telephoned by Ray's court-appointed London attorneys and then received a handwritten letter signed "R.G. Sneyd" asking him to handle the case.

Rensch George Sneyd is the name under which Ray was arrested at London Airport June 8, carrying a forged Canadian passport and a loaded gun.

Ray is still held by the British on passport and gun charges, but British police agreed to defer consideration of these until the extradition hearing ends. If Ray is extradited, the charges probably will be dropped.

The British attorneys representing the United States said they would produce a fingerprint expert at the extradition hearing, presumably to testify on Ray's identity. The rest of the hearing, which will probably last one day, is expected to be taken up with a review of the case against Ray.

If Milton grants extradition, Ray could still appeal to the High Court and then the House of Lords. Such appeals usually are based on the argument that the case against the defendant is a political one. British extradition law forbids surrender of suspects in political cases.

This was Ray's second routine hearing at the Bow Street Court, and for the second time it was packed with policemen.

At least 100 London uniformed and plain-clothes police were assigned to guard duties. Two dozen of them were in the courtroom, many more lined the corridors through which Ray had to pass from the police station cells next door.

Police frisked all reporters and spectators who entered the courtroom, inspecting handbags and briefcases. The doors were locked during the hearing and a line of police stood facing the public.

After the hearing, three Jaguar sedans escorted a police van carrying Ray back to Wandsworth Prison, where he is held in a maximum security cell.

LONDON AL - James Earl Ray returns to court Tuesday for his first public response on a U.S. demand for his return to stand trial in the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The 40-year-old escaped convict has been under round-the-clock guard in Wandsworth Prison since his appearance in Bow Street Magistrates Court last Monday on charges of entering Britain on a forged Canadian passport and carrying an unlicensed loaded pistol.

He made a brief appearance in court a week ago under the name of Ramon George Sneyd, the name on his Canadian passport. In the interim the U.S. Embassy requested his extradition to face charges of murdering King in Memphis, Tenn., April 4. He is also sought by Missouri State Prison officials to finish a term for armed robbery.

When Ray appears in court, Frank Milton, chief metropolitan magistrate, is expected to refer to the extradition request. Ray could waive extradition then and there, but this is considered highly unlikely by officials in London. He is more likely to ask for time to consult with his lawyers. The magistrate would then set a tentative date for a full extradition hearing, probably later this week.

LONDON, AP — James Earl Ray today undergoes the first of what could be many court sessions on the U.S. application to extradite him for trial on the charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

In advance of Ray's second appearance in the Bow Street Magistrate's Court, Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Frank Milton spent the weekend studying the inch-thick file from the U.S. government requesting the extradition of the 40-year-old escaped convict.

Ray was arrested at London airport June 8 and charged then with entering the country on a forged Canadian passport and carrying an unlicensed loaded gun.

After a preliminary hearing before Milton June 10 on the passport and gun charges, he has been held under round-the-clock guard at Wandsworth Prison while Scotland Yard tried to reconstruct his movements and contacts during the three weeks he is believed to have spent in London before his arrest.

The U.S. Embassy forwarded the request for his extradition to the British government last Wednesday.

Under the 1901 extradition treaty between Britain and the United States, British courts can grant extradition only if U.S. authorities present evidence sufficient to send Ray to trial under British law.

Extradition of Ray was also asked because he is wanted by Missouri to complete a prison term for armed robbery. While extradition on this charge would be almost automatic, the U.S.-British treaty specifies that a suspect can only be tried on the charges for which he has been specifically extradited. Therefore, unless he is extradited for the murder of the Negro civil rights leader, he cannot be prosecuted on that charge in the United States.

The British Extradition Act of 1970 also says that no one can be surrendered to another country for "an offense of a political character," and there has been speculation that Ray's attorney might argue his client was charged with a political killing. But Denny Holland, professor of English law at London University, said in an interview that he would be surprised if Ray succeeded in any such defense.

"The extradition law may be vague," he said, "but it usually is interpreted according to the tenor of the time."

LONDON — James Earl Ray was transferred Tuesday to a maximum security cell in fortress-like Wandsworth Prison and Scotland Yard detectives secured his London haunts to learn if he had contacts in Britain.

Legal moves were under way to extradite Ray to the United States to stand trial charged with the April 4 sniper slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Police on both sides of the Atlantic tried to untangle Ray's travels that took him to Canada, Britain and Portugal before his arrest Saturday at London Airport as he prepared to fly to Belgium.

Extradition could take up to two months if the 40-year-old Ray decides to fight it through the British courts. American authorities have obtained a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of King in Memphis, Tenn.

Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee has signed "all necessary papers" required for the state's request that Ray be returned for trial, a spokesman for the governor said.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said documents to back up the extradition request had arrived there and "will be transmitted to London shortly." The documents are from Tennessee and from Missouri where Ray was convicted of armed robbery and escaped from prison in 1957 by hiding in a bread truck.

British police held Ray on charges of using a forged passport and carrying a gun. On Scotland Yard's records he is officially listed as Ramon George Sneyd, the name on his Canadian passport.

British detectives were using the passport charge as legal grounds to investigate his movements in London. Although he has been traced to two London hotels between May 23 and his arrest, there was an unexplained gap of about 10 days starting on May 17, when he left Lisbon for London.

FBI agents were understood to be working with Scotland Yard. The British police were doing the actual spadework since the FBI has no legal authority in foreign countries.

Scotland Yard was completely silent on where it was looking. But one officer said: "On the basis of this passport charge we can get a warrant if we want to search a place, and then go in and dab fingerprint it. If we find the prints we're looking for, we know we're on the right track."

Under British law, it is possible for police with a search warrant to enter a house without giving any explanation of their reasons. Therefore they can raid a home or hotel on Ray's trail without specifying the object of their search.

Any of the objects was understood to be establishing if Ray made contact with anyone in London who might have aided him. Such information would be passed directly to the FBI.

Now that Ray has been charged under British law, there is no possibility of Scotland Yard's interrogating him outside a courtroom.

U.S. officials, fearful that prosecution of Ray might be jeopardized, are staying well away from him. They have not questioned Ray.

Fred M. Vinson Jr., an assistant U.S. attorney general, said he "got a glimpse" of Ray but did not speak to him.

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray, the escaped convict accused of slaying Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was transferred under police guard today to Wandsworth Prison where security has been tightened since one of Britain's great train robbers went over the wall four years ago.

Wandsworth is considered a safer place for Ray than Brixton Prison where Ray has been held since his arrest Saturday.

U.S. legal experts worked on plans to take Ray quickly and safely back to the United States for trial and police on both sides of the Atlantic tried to learn if Ray had help in his four-month flight.

American authorities took the first formal step toward extradition Monday night by obtaining a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of King on April 4 in Memphis, Tenn.

In Nashville, Tenn., Gov. Buford Ellington signed "all necessary papers" required for American's request that Ray be returned to stand trial for murder. The extradition papers were forwarded to the U.S. State Department's spokesman for the governor said.

Some legal experts suggested Britain might speed the process by deporting Ray as an undesirable alien. But other lawyers said that would be a violation of the extradition procedure as a substitute for extradition.

The 40-year-old Ray made a two-minute appearance Monday in Bow Street Court on charges of carrying a forged passport and under the name of Ramon Sneyd. Police equipped with walkie-talkies surrounded Brixton Prison and blocked all roads leading to it, barring unauthorized persons at least 100 yards away. Strict maximum security measures were taken for Ray's transfer to Wandsworth, a jail in a western suburb of London.

Security measures were instituted at Wandsworth since Ronald Arthur Briggs, one of the train robbers disappeared over the wall. Ray escaped from Missouri State Prison in 1967 by riding in a trash truck.

Wandsworth is used for Britain's long-term prisoners and Ray will have two British police officers in his cell around the clock.

American authorities have not yet interrogated Ray and legal experts say he can veto any attempt to do so as long as he is in British custody.

WASHINGTON. A document to instruct the U.S. request to Britain for extradition of James Earl Ray, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, will be transmitted to London shortly, a State Department spokesman said Tuesday.
The spokesman, press officer Robert J. McElroy, said the document had arrived at the Justice Department last Tennessee, where Ray is wanted for the murder of Martin Luther King Jr., and from Missouri where Ray was convicted of armed robbery.
Both crimes are grounds for extradition under the 1921 U.S.-British extradition treaty.
Ray was picked up by the British Saturday and is being held for the time being on charges of violating British laws forbidding use of a fraudulent passport and possession of an unlicensed pistol.
McElroy noted that a U.S. provisional request for Ray's arrest already had been made, pending the U.S. follow-through with documentation supporting the U.S. claim that he should be extradited to this country.
Earlier Tuesday, Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington signed what was termed all the necessary papers for Tennessee's bid for extradition of Ray to that state. King was assassinated in Memphis.

Under normal procedure Milton would study the petition and schedule a hearing about a week after receiving it.

If Milton grants extradition, Ray has 14 days to appeal to the High Court, and another 14 days to take the case to the House of Lords if his lawyers want to challenge the order for a point of law.

Ray's court-appointed British lawyer refused all comment on his case. The lawyer, Michael Brennan, specialized in police court cases and was picked to defend him on the passport and gun charges. Ray could request another lawyer for the extradition hearing, and that would delay the case.

So long as Ray is held here on passport charges, British police have legal authority to investigate his movements during his three weeks in London prior to his arrest. Scotland Yard is doing that.

John Brennan, receptionist at one hotel where Ray stayed, told a newsmen that the police are looking for another receptionist who checked Ray into the hotel. The other girl now is on vacation, but Miss Brennan said Scotland Yard wants to find out if someone accompanied Ray when he arrived at the hotel.

The police investigation carried out at the request and with the cooperation of the FBI, appears directed at determining whether evidence of a conspiracy to kill King can be turned up in London.

There was some suspicion here that Ray may have had an appointment to meet someone in London, perhaps a contact who had never turned up.

Miss Brennan said Ray had originally been booked to leave the hotel on June 7 and then extended his stay for two more days. When she asked him why, he said: "I'm having trouble with my visa."

Ray moved from his room to a secluded hotel with a private telephone number and stayed in his room for four days, trying to arrange a flight out of London. By that time, police apparently were on his trail and closing in.

LONDON, JUNE 12 (UPI)—THE AMERICAN EMBASSY TODAY TURNED OVER A FILE ON JAMES EARL RAY TO THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE AS A PRELIMINARY TO EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS AGAINST THE ACCUSED ASSASSIN OF DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING.

BRITISH OFFICIALS WERE STUDYING THE INCH-THICK FILE THIS AFTERNOON TO ENSURE THE CASE COMPLIED WITH TERMS OF THE ANGLO-AMERICAN EXTRADITION TREATY.

ONCE SATISFIED, THE FOREIGN OFFICE WILL PASS IT ON TO THE HOME OFFICE (INTERIOR MINISTRY). THE HOME OFFICE THEN MUST CHECK THAT LEGAL REQUIREMENTS ARE MET BEFORE PASSING THE FILE TO THE MAGISTRATE AT LONDON'S BOW STREET COURT FOR A PRELIMINARY HEARING.

AMERICAN EMBASSY OFFICIALS WERE HOPEFUL A PRELIMINARY HEARING MIGHT BE HELD LATE THIS WEEK OR EARLY NEXT WEEK.

RAY WAS ARRESTED AT LONDON AIRPORT SATURDAY AS HE WAS ABOUT TO BOARD A PLANE FOR BRUSSELS. MONDAY HE WAS BROUGHT BEFORE THE BOW STREET COURT UNDER THE NAME OF RAMON GEORGE SNEYD.

HE WAS THEN CHARGED WITH ILLEGALLY POSSESSING A REVOLVER AND AMMUNITION AND WITH CARRYING A FORGED CANADIAN PASSPORT. THE COURT ORDERED HIM HELD IN CUSTODY FOR A HEARING JUNE 16. EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS COULD EITHER BE BROUGHT UP THEN OR DEALT WITH SEPARATELY.

AMERICAN AUTHORITIES HAVE ALREADY OBTAINED A PROVISIONAL WARRANT FOR RAY ON THE CHARGE OF MURDERING KING.

THIS WAS A PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE TO ENSURE THAT RAY COULD BE REARRESTED IF THE HOLDING CHARGES FAILED TO STAND UP.

AMERICAN AUTHORITIES MUST ESTABLISH A PRIMA FACIE CASE AGAINST RAY TO OBTAIN AN EXTRADITION ORDER. THIS IS EXPECTED TO TAKE MORE THAN ONE COURT HEARING.

EVEN AFTER EXTRADITION IS ORDERED THERE WOULD BE A DELAY BEFORE BRITISH OFFICIALS COULD TURN RAY OVER TO U.S. MARSHALS FOR THE JOURNEY BACK TO TENNESSEE.

AT LEAST 15 DAYS MUST ELAPSE FROM THE TIME RULING IS MADE TO THE TIME IT IS PUT INTO EFFECT. THIS IS TO ALLOW FOR APPEALS AND ANY APPEAL COULD TAKE SEVERAL WEEKS TO DECIDE.

BRITISH OFFICIALS TUESDAY SWITCHED RAY FROM BRIXTON PRISON TO WANDSWORTH JAIL IN A NEIGHBORING DISTRICT OF LONDON TO PROVIDE TIGHTER SECURITY.
